RESEARCH AND DISSEMINATION

Grants

Godoy, Nancy L. (Principal Investigator) (2020) "Community-Driven Archives: Digital Preservation Workshop" Library Services and Technology Act Grant, Arizona State Library, Archives & Public Records, $80,111

Develop and pilot a workshop that teaches Community Archivists how to preserve digital archives, especially born digital content.

Godoy, Nancy L. (Principal Investigator) and Lorrie McAllister (Co-PI) (2018-2020). "Engaging, Educating, and Empowering: Developing Community-Driven Archival Collections." Andrew Mellon Foundation, Grant Awarded, October 2017, $450,000

Three-year grant designed to build and expand community-driven collections in an effort to preserve and improve Arizona's archives. Grant project will implement Archives and Preservation Workshops and Scanning and Oral History Days in order to give a voice to historically marginalized communities (Latinos, African Americans, Asian Americans, and the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender community). Project will also digitize and make publicly accessible existing community-driven collections from the Chicano/a Research Collection and Greater Arizona Collection.

Godoy, Nancy L. (Co-PI) and Vega, Sujey (Co-PI), and Vanessa Fonseca (2016-2017). "Preserving Arizona's Latina/o Presence: Community Based Workshops on Archival Preservation and K-12 Curriculum." Program for Transborder Communities Seed Grant, School of Transborder Studies, Arizona State University, $17,500

Grant used to further develop and implement a community-based workshop created by Godoy in 2014. Workshops titled "Latino Genealogy and Preservation of Family Archives" were conducted statewide and community interest and needs were assessed. Participants were introduced to genealogy research, archival theory, and oral histories. Grant was also used to work with a focus group of local teachers in order to incorporate Latino archives into lesson plans and make curriculum more inclusive because Latinos represent the majority of Arizona's K-12 education system.
