BOOKS

United States of Jihad: Investigating America's Homegrown Terrorists (Crown, 2016)
New York Times chief book critic, Michiko Kakutani, wrote, "Mr. Bergen writes with authority and range... His profiles of jihadists... leave the reader with a harrowing appreciation of the banality of evil and an unnerving sense of missteps made by the authorities... Mr. Bergen's detailed accounts of terror plots (both executed, foiled or failed) make for chilling reading." Former Secretary of Homeland Security Janet Napolitano wrote in the New York Times Book Review, "Excellent... Bergen's book is the best one-volume treatment available on the current state of jihad in America."

- HBO made a documentary adapted from the book, “Homegrown: The Counterterror Dilemma.”

Drone Wars: The Transformation of Armed Conflict and the Promise of Law (co-editor with Daniel Rothenberg, Cambridge University Press, 2014)

Lt. Col. Andrew P. Creel, U.S. Army, wrote in Military Review, “Drone Wars is an extensive anthology on the current debates surrounding the use of armed aerial drones in contemporary conflicts...Many of the authors are subject matter experts in the fields of international law, policy, and strategy development. Others come from academia, media, government, and various think tanks from around the country. This impressive list helps to make the book an authoritative source on drone warfare.”

Talibanistan: Negotiating the Borders between Terror, Politics, and Religion (Oxford University Press, co-editor with Katherine Tiedemann, 2013)

Anatol Lieven in the New York Review of Books wrote, “A frequently brilliant collection of essays by different experts on the Taliban in Afghanistan and Pakistan, including an analysis of the extent to which their past links with al-Qaeda represent an enduring threat to the West, and of how far a peace settlement with them may be possible.”

Manhunt: The Ten-Year Search for bin Laden from 9/11 to Abbottabad (Crown, 2012)

- New York Times bestseller.
- The book was translated into nine languages: Chinese, Danish, Dutch, French, German, Marathi, Norwegian, Portuguese and Urdu.
- HBO made a documentary film titled “Manhunt: The Search for Bin Laden” based on the book. The film won the 2013 Emmy for Best Documentary and was in the Sundance film festival. Bergen was the Executive Producer.
- The Washington Post named Manhunt one of the best non-fiction books of 2012.
- The book won the Overseas Press Club 2013 award for best book on international affairs. NPR’s Dina Temple-Raston in the Washington Post wrote. “Bergen’s three other books have become required reading for national security buffs and counterterrorism reporters. But Manhunt is different. It goes to a higher level...Bergen has accomplished a journalistic feat: He manages to make the story of bin Laden’s end sound new. He has put together a real-life thriller that will be a must-read for years to come.”

The Longest War: The Enduring Conflict Between America and Al-Qaeda (Free Press, 2011)

- New York Times bestseller
- The Washington Institute awarded The Longest War its 2011 Gold Prize “to reward outstanding writing and to stimulate new contributions to the field” about the Middle East ($30,000 award).
- Newsweek and the Guardian named The Longest War one of the key books about terrorism of the past decade. Amazon, Kirkus Reviews and Foreign Policy magazine named The Longest War one of the best books of 2011.
- Thomas E. Ricks in the New York Times Book Review wrote, “For years, I tried to read every new novel about how 9/11 affected our lives. Some were very thoughtful, but I always came away unsatisfied, feeling that the authors had worked hard but had somehow fallen short. As I read the stunning first section of Peter L. Bergen’s new book on the war between the United States and Al Qaeda, I realized I had been looking in the wrong genre. None of the novels were as effective or moving as “The Longest War,” which is a history of our time. ... “The Longest War” is one of the most important accounts on the subject to appear in years. But be warned: You will read it and weep.”

The Osama bin Laden I Know: An Oral History of al Qaeda’s Leader (Free Press, 2006)

- The book was translated into three languages: French, Polish and Spanish.
- Foreign Affairs named The Osama bin Laden I Know one of the best books about the Middle East for 2006.
- The Washington Post named The Osama bin Laden I Know one of the best non-fiction books of 2006.
- Max Rodenbeck in the The New York Review of Books wrote, “Highly illuminating. Peter Bergen, an experienced reporter as well as an academic, stands out among terrorism ‘experts’ for his breadth of experience and clear-headedness. Bergen has done a fine job of researching and compiling a very wide range of oral testimony. What emerges is a fascinating sequence of oblique-angled perspectives, casting light on the underlying motives of bin Laden and his companions and revealing some of his less-remarked but significant adventures.”

Holy War, Inc.: Inside the Secret World of Osama bin Laden (Free Press, 2001)

- New York Times bestseller
- The book was translated into eighteen languages: Bulgarian, Chinese, Czech, Dutch, French, German, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Portuguese, Norwegian, Romanian, Russian, Serbian, Slovak, Spanish and Turkish.
- The Washington Post, The Observer (U.K.) and Salon named Holy War, Inc. one of the best books of 2001.
- Bruce Hoffman in The Atlantic wrote, “Unusually astute....Holy War, Inc. shines [with] Bergen’s insight into bin Laden’s mind-set and behavior....Required reading for anyone seeking to understand him.”
